Workshop Description:

You may have heard of Skype in education, but in this session we will provide you with 10 innovative ways to use Skype through gamification, data collection, cultural exchanges, and authentic research. Be prepared to take your imagination on an incredible journey as you develop new opportunities for your own students. We will be sharing the newest Skype Virtual Field Trips for 2017-18.

Presenter: Dyane Smokorowski
Dyane is the 2013 Kansas Teacher of the Year and is currently serving as an Instructional Technology Coach in the Andover Public schools. Mrs. Smoke, as she's known to her students, believes in a project-based, student-centered classroom that helps students build skills in communication, planning, research and project implementation. She wants her students to develop a love for literature, communication and technology, but also to understand how to use that love and passion to advance their own future, as well as that of their community.
